

Symphony Auditions

Auditions for new members, in anticipation of a fall concert series, are scheduled Saturday from 9:30 to 10:30 at Burlingame Recreation center by the California Youth symphony.

Musicians of grammar school through college age, playing any instrument, are eligible to join the group. Those auditioning have been asked to bring their own instruments and music stands, but music sheets are not required.

Aaron Sten, director of the orchestra, said the symphony can take in several young musicians who are learners and not necessarily accomplished artists.

After the auditions are completed, the symphony will begin practice for appearances at the San Mateo fiesta. The group has been invited to send small ensembles for performances in the Court of Roses, and the entire orchestra will play in the main rotunda.

Information about membership in the youth symphony may be obtained by calling C. H. Woodhams Jr., or Mrs. Gilbert Schoux.
